The EHESP School of Public Health is offering a Postdoctoral fellowship through its Centre for research on Risk and Regulation. The postdoctoral fellowship will start on Sept 1, 2009 or Oct 1, 2009 for a period of 18 months renewable.

The Centre of Research on Risk and Regulation (C3R) is an interdisciplinary research centre at EHESP School of Public Health located in the heart of Paris. The post offers an exciting opportunity for career development in an interdisciplinary and international research environment.

The successful candidate will be expected to develop and complete projects independently and to interact with colleagues from different disciplines (epidemiology, psychology, sociology, economics and statistics) and countries. Applications are particularly invited from social and medical scientists working in C3R's main areas of research, namely:

- The role of environmental, psychosocial, or socio-cultural factors on risk perceptions and health behaviours.
- The relationships between behavioural principles and physical health and illness.
- The influence of regulations on risk behaviours, diseases prevalence and social disparities in health.

Applications for a postdoctoral fellowship within C3R are invited from social scientists with a recently completed PhD with experience of survey methodology, undertaking data collection by questionnaires and structured interviews. A fair level of competence in statistical analysis is required. Preference will be given to applicants working, or prepared to work, in one of the three areas specified above, but other areas of health risk and regulation research relevant to C3R's agenda will also be considered. Basic knowledge of the French language is not required for native English speaker but would be an advantage.

For the fourth time, the Global Forum and The Lancet invite young researchers and leaders of tomorrow to submit an essay to the popular competition "Young Voices in Research for Health": Innovating for the health of all. The deadline for receipt of entries is 3 May 2009.

If you are a young professional (under 30) working on or interested in the broad spectrum of research for health, please feel free to submit your original, provocative, idealistic and passionate ideas on this year's theme, taking established practices to task in a constructive fashion. You will find the participation guidelines here: <http://www.globalforumhealth.org/shlinks/yvhr2009.php>

This year's competition focuses on "Innovating for the health of all". "Innovation" encompasses the entire process from the generation of new ideas, to their transformation into something useful, to their implementation. Innovation for health includes the development of new and more cost-effective services, products, methods, management practices and policies to improve health outcomes. It involves both social and technological innovation.

The 40 most outstanding essays will be published in an anthology and the authors are featured one by one on the Global Forum's home page throughout the year. From these, five or six winners from different geographical regions will be invited to Forum 2009, with all expenses paid (Havana, Cuba, from 16 to 20 November).

You can submit your essay here: <http://www.globalforumhealth.org/shlinks/yvhr2009.php> (in English, French or Spanish) and/or help spread the word by forwarding this message.

Stephen Matlin, the Executive Director of the Global Forum for Health Research, has announced he will step down at the end of 2009, when he had completed six years in this position.

2009 Child Safety Report Cards to be launched

On May 6, 2009 the European Child Safety Alliance of EuroSafe will launch Child Safety Report Cards for more than 20 European countries at the European Parliament in Strasbourg with the support of MEP Arlene McCarthy Chair of the Internal Market and Consumer Protection Committee, European Commissioner for Consumers Meglena Kuneva and European Commissioner for Health Androulla Vassiliou.

Simultaneous launches are being prepared in participating countries. National Child Safety Report Cards and Country Profiles will be available for Austria, Belgium, Cyprus, Czech Republic, England, Estonia, Finland, France, Germany, Greece, Hungary, Iceland, Ireland, Israel, Italy, Latvia, Lithuania, the Netherlands, Portugal, Scotland, Slovenia, Spain, Sweden and Wales.

The 2009 Report Cards and Profiles describe: 1) how well a country is doing to make it safe for children, 2) what priority issues need to be addressed, and 3) which good practices should be adopted to prevent accidental injuries and to save more children's lives.

The Report Cards assess the extent of safety measures provided to children and adolescents by examining and grading the adoption, implementation and enforcement of national level evidence-based policies. A 24-country summary report card provides a multi-country overview to facilitate European-level planning to support national level efforts.

The 12 policy topics within the report cards comprise nine areas of safety relevant to children and adolescents:

- Passenger safety,
- Motor scooter and moped safety,
- Pedestrian safety and
- Cycling safety,
- Water safety/drowning prevention,
- Fall prevention,
- Burn prevention,
- Poisoning prevention,
- Choking/strangulation prevention.

Plus three areas of strategy to support child safety efforts:

- Leadership,
- Infrastructure and
- Capacity.

The launch of the 2009 report card results on May 6 will communicate the country performance grades, evidenced safety measures in place, good practice gaps to be explored for improvement, and progress made by the 14 countries where the 2009 report card is their second report card (their first being released in November 2007). Participating countries are using their report card assessments as part of developing and/or implementing child safety action plans within the Child Safety Action Plan (CSAP) initiative of the European Child Safety Alliance.

CSAP is being conducted through funding and partnership with the European Commission, Health & Environment Alliance (HEAL), UNICEF, World Health Organization (WHO) and the national partner organisations.

I2sare– Newsletter

The European project I2SARE, Health Inequalities Indicators in the Regions of Europe, was established to produce a health profile for each region of the European Union and to create a typology of those regions and typologies of sub regional territories in a selection of countries and regions.

I2SARE's main objective is to assist European, national, regional and local decision makers in developing their health policy, through a better understanding of the health status of the population and of health inequalities at regional and sub regional level.

I2sare– Newsletter - Building a Network for Health Inequalities Information- number 1 describes the project, its rationale and aims. In this issue, our Work Package leaders also detail their tasks.

I2SARE also wants to promote sub national institutions working on Health Information, to favour exchanges and to develop networking activities between them.
