

VIENNA: CITY OF CULTURE AND MUSIC

Vienna, capital of Austria, with 1.8 million inhabitants, is situated on the banks of the Danube river and has a beautiful Baroque historic centre. With its successful blend of imperial tradition and contemporary creativity, the Austrian capital has established itself as a major player in the global tourism market. Vienna is known for the influx of visitors from all over the world and its central location in Europe. Vienna is called 'the city of culture and music', because of its large variety of attractions, art, palaces and opera. Vienna has been synonymous with music for centuries, and was home to Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert and Johann Strauss. This outstanding musical heritage has been preserved right to the present day. Coffee houses are very popular in Vienna and the city is famous for its Sachertorte, a cake coated in dark chocolate icing.

CULTURAL VISITS

Walk in the footsteps of the Habsburgs and visit the splendid baroque Schönbrunn and Belvedere Palaces, or stroll along the magnificent Ring Boulevard and take a look at the heart of the former vast Habsburg empire: the Hofburg, the Vienna State Opera, the Musikverein. Another symbol of Vienna is St. Stephen's Cathedral.

TRAVELING

With Vienna International Airport, the city represents an important link to the worldwide economy. Flight times within Europe are always with a maximum of three hours due to the central location of the city in Europe. Also, Vienna is comfortably accessible by train from many European cities. Over 10,000 hotel rooms, 1,000 restaurants and good public transport await you.

Mark your calendars - 10th EPH Conference,
1 - 4 November 2017 Stockholm.

The EPH Conference is an initiative of the European Public Health Association (EUPHA), the international and independent umbrella organisation for public health associations and institutes. The 9th EPH Conference is co-organised by the EPH Conference Foundation, EUPHA and the Austrian Public Health Association (Österreichische Gesellschaft für Public Health, ÖGPH). The ÖGPH was founded in 1995. It is a multi- and interdisciplinary association that promotes the development of health-oriented structures in societies and policies.

Willkommen in Wien

CO-ORGANIZED BY

Österreichische Gesellschaft für Public Health

The theme for the 9th EPH Conference is 'All for Health, Health for All'. A healthy population is a key requirement for the achievement of society's goals. Good health for all enhances quality of life, improves workforce productivity, increases the capacity for learning, strengthens families and communities, supports sustainable habitats and environments, and contributes to security, poverty reduction and social inclusion. Reducing inequalities improves health and well-being for all. However, escalating costs for treatment and care are placing unsustainable burdens on national and local resources such that broader developments may be held back. This relation between health, well-being and economic development has been propelled up the political agenda of all countries. Increasingly, communities, employers and industries are expecting and demanding strong coordinated government action to promote health in all sectors of society and avoid duplication and fragmentation of actions. Through the plenary sessions, this vision is further explored.

PARALLEL PROGRAMME

The parallel programme reflects on a wide array of public health issues and ways of solving these issues at global, European, national, regional and local level. The parallel programme is set up with reviewed single abstracts (oral presentation, pitch presentation, e-poster presentations and displays) and workshops. Abstracts and workshops can be submitted via the EPH Conference website from 1 February until 1 May 2016. Detailed instructions can be found on www.ephconference.eu.

PLENARY SESSIONS

1. From Ottawa to Vienna: 30 years of the Ottawa Charter

In November 2016 we will celebrate the 30th anniversary of the Ottawa Charter, launched as a series of actions among international health organisations, national governments and local communities to achieve the goal of 'Health for All' through better health promotion. At the Vienna Conference we will present an updated version as the Vienna Charter. This first plenary session, organised by the initiator of the conference EUPHA (European Public Health Association), focuses on the question 'From Ottawa to Vienna: 30 years of the Ottawa Charter: Where are we now and where should we go?'

2. Health for All

In this second plenary session we highlight the importance of good health and access to health care for all. Speakers of international standing will discuss in a round table the challenges for Health for All from different perspectives: sexual and gender minorities, ethnic minority populations, undocumented migrants.

The EPH Conference is where you convene, learn, network and engage with colleagues to strengthen the profession of public health. The place where you share the latest research and information, promote best practices and advocate for public health issues and policies grounded in research. The conference brings together more than 1,200 of your colleagues from across Europe and around the world to network, educate and share experiences. This is an event you don't want to miss.

3. All for Health

The third plenary session looks outside the traditional fields of public health. Are other fields aware that their work has an impact on health? For instance: corporate public health, urban planning and its impact on health, law enforcement and public health.

4. Health Technologies

Health technologies, E-health, telemedicine, IT solutions (health apps, smart watches, etc.), ambient assisted technology – ambient assisted living: Where does that lead to? How is it related to the health care system? What are contributions towards health literacy?

5. Achieving health in fragmented systems

This session explores the relation between new forms of cooperation, social solidarity, insurance and health promotion from an international perspective.
