2. Activities throughout the year

The section has conducted a second survey among the Section members about national health promotion activities. The detailed results were presented at the JTN and can be requested by the section president Luis Saboga-Nunes.

Following the Section release Statement on Health Promotion in the time of COVID-19 last year, - a cross-country and cross-organization work ( included members from UNESCO and IUHPE and various academic institutions) a discussion about the first round & A second round was followed. The main aim of the discussion was to explore further on the five discussion points on the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic and shed light on needs and barriers from health promotion perspective. The discussion should enable health promotion practitioners and policy makers to learn from this crisis for future health promotion planning.

Annual report

See other document. In short:

Besides the above activities, we have focused on the three areas of research, practice and policy:

Research

- by disseminating EUPHA HPS activities and taking lead roles in the European Health Promotion Forum and the International Union for Health Promotion and Education as well as within our national and international health promotion research projects. For example COVID-HL Network (covid-hl.eu)

Practice

- by collaborating specifically with schools and school network and implementing health promotion school concepts in diverse school settings. For example with the Schools for Health in Europe Foundation (SHE) and the International School Health Network (ISHN)

Policy

- by starting policy dialogues in 2020 with European Region member states and policy makers with a focus on embedding health literacy within a European health promotion framework. For example joining the WHO European Region Action Plan Initiative on Health Literacy

Ideas for workshop & activities next year

We have collected various workshop ideas for the Berlin conference 2022

These were suggestions made by the participants and we will collect further ideas from the section members.

Research pillars as of 2022:

Research: Prof. Kevin Dadaczynski (Germany)

Practice: Prof. Siw Tone Innstrand (Norway) and Eric Breton (France)

Policy: Prof. Didier Jourdan (France)

Training: through the section newsletter

Steering committee

The steering committee is to work within the four pillars perspective that together with the president and vice president will meet on discussing the role of a steering committee

Any other business

None

List of attendants

A list was collected – based on Screenshots and an Introduction round - but failed to grant permission from participants to share it (because of the JTN occurred as an online event).
