2012 main PHE activities

- PHIRE project
 - The PHE section was responsible for the assessment of one tracer projects within the WP4 of the PHIRE project
 - This activity was requested by European Commission in a workshop on vaccination in Luxemburg in October 2012

Public Health Innovation & Research in Europe

Specific objectives:

- To investigate the impact from public health actions funded under the first EU Public Health Programme (PHP) across Europe;
- To develop a resource base with information on national and European public health research
- To propose recommendations for improved effectiveness of public health programmes

methods

The following strategies were used to identify Country Informants:

- Identification of CIs through EUPHA sections mailing list
- E-mail the project leader of the project and ask for other persons to contact.
- Searching PubMed database with following keywords: name of the specific country AND vaccination
- When the contact was unavailable, we ask him/her to recommend one or two other possible CIs that could be contacted (Snow-ball method)

Assessment of the Health programme projects outcomes by evaluating the results of VENICE project: preliminary results from the PHIRE project
