

European Public Health Association

Section of Sexual and Gender Minority Health
News Letter - November 2016

Dear section member,

We would like to thank all of you who attended our meeting and workshops during the European Public Health (EPH) Conference in Vienna. The activities during the conference were good ways of increasing visibility of this field of research and a good opportunity for us to share experiences.

As of this year's conference and meeting of the governing board of the European Public Health Association, the Section of Sexual and Gender Minority Health is a formal section within the organization.

Throughout the year we will try to send newsletters like this one with information on ongoing activities in the field and important new publications and events. Early in the spring we will start planning for meetings and potential workshops at next year's EPH conference and I hope as many of you as possible will be interested in contributing in different ways.

During the conference, I talked to Flore Lecomte executive director of the French Society of Public Health. She asked me to forward an invitation to an International Symposium on "Health Issues among LGBTIQ+ people" in Paris, March 9-10 2017. The call for abstracts is already now in December but I hope that this can be of interest for some of you, see attached document.

Best wishes,

Richard Bränström & Arjan van der Star
