

Dear members,

With this newsletter, you find the program for our 2019 pre-conference November 20 in Marseille. Professor Ellenor Mittendorfer-Rutz has succeeded to gather a group of researcher with expertise in different aspects of migration and its importance for work, health and social security. The theme is, as you all know highly relevant for public health and is one of the most vivid topics in current media and political discussions. Thank you Ellenor for your efforts so far and look forward to the pre-conference.

Note that we hope that as many of you as possible take the opportunity to participate in the dinner directly after the pre-conference. The dinner is very good way to get to know the section members better and to network for future collaboration.

You register for the pre-conference at the website for the EPH-conference:

<https://ephconference.eu/>

You can choose to participate in the pre-conference only or to combine with the full conference. We hope that you have the opportunity to stay for the full conference since we anticipate interesting workshops and presentations of abstracts. We will also have the annual meeting of our section.

And a reminder to visit our homepage at least once a year to signal that you still are an active member. And please, tell your colleagues about our section. Membership is free. It is easy to register at <https://eupha.org/social-security-work-and-health>

Best regards from Gunnel Hensing, section president

gunnel.hensing@gu.se

Marseille welcomes you to the 16th pre-conference of the EUPHA Section on Social Security, Work & Health

Forced migration in Europe – aspects of work, social security and health

Venue	Palais des Congrès et des Expositions, Marseille, France
Time	Wednesday November 20, 2019
9.00-9.15	Welcome and introduction Gunnel Hensing, President, SSWH section, Univ. of Gothenburg, Sweden Ellenor Mittendorfer-Rutz, Professor, Karolinska Inst., Stockholm, Sweden
9.15-10.00	Forced migration, modeling the post-resettlement context of refugees' mental health: from work and healthcare to social anchoring Fredrik Saboonchi , Professor, Swedish Red Cross University College, Sweden
10.00-10.30	Coffee/tea break with group discussions
10.30-11.15	Social benefits and employment among refugees in Finland – the role of laws and policies Maili Malin , Senior Researcher, PhD, Migration Institute of Finland, Finland
11.15-12.30	Trouble-shooting seminar: Group work and discussions
12.30-13.30	Lunch
13.30-14.15	Migrants access to health services, Mipex Health strand David Ingleby , Professor, PhD, University of Amsterdam, the Netherlands
14.15-15.00	Selection of migrants into fields of low paid and/or precarious jobs Elena Ronda , Professor, PhD, University of Alicante, Spain
15.00-15.30	Coffee/tea break with group discussions
15.30-16.15	Trouble-shooting seminar: Group work and group discussion
16.15-16.45	Sickness absence and disability pension in migrants Ellenor Mittendorfer-Rutz , Professor, PhD, Karolinska Institutet, Sweden
16.45-17.00	Summing up of the day: What did we learn and how can we develop assessments to improve research and knowledge for public health? Ellenor Mittendorfer-Rutz
17.00	End of afternoon program
18.00	Joint pre-conference dinner and continued discussions and networking

Lunch, tea and coffee are included in the registration fee. Please note that the registration fee does not include the pre-conference dinner.